DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
4. Claims 1-2, 4-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tanimoto et al., 6,938,968 B2 (Tanimoto).

Tanimoto discloses a vacuum heat insulating material comprising a core material containing inorganic fiber and an exterior covering material and refrigeration equipment, comprising inorganic fibers that include silicon oxide as a main component. See entire document, and for example abstract. The inorganic fibers would have intermolecular interaction of the Si-Oh groups at the surface of the inorganic fibers because this is a known property of silicon oxide. It would have been obvious during routine experimentation to determine the specific surface ratio, commensurate with the desired adhesive properties. Accordingly, this requirement is not construed to be a matter of invention, in the absence of clear factual evidence to the contrary.

Therefore, the teachings of Tanimoto would have rendered obvious the invention as claimed in present claims 1-2 and 4-9.

No claims are allowed.
